VIII. All proprietors of lands, and all farmers, agents, and other persons having the charge or management of lands, are hereby declared accountable for the early communication to the Magistrates and Police Officers of intelligence of the resort, to any place within the limits of the lands held or managed by them, of any person in respect of whom there shall be reasonable suspicion of his being such convict who has escaped as aforesaid, and every proprietor or other person as aforesaid who shall neglect to give such intelligence, shall be liable, on conviction before a Magistrate, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, and to fine not exceeding two hundred Rupees, commutable, if not paid, to imprisonment for a further term not exceeding six months.

IX. Any Magistrate or person exercising the full powers of a Magistrate, unless prohibited by order of the Executive Government, is hereby authorized, without reference to any other authority, to tender a pardon to any person who may have escaped from Jail or other lawful custody whilst detained under sentence of imprisonment for any crime or offence other than the crimes above-mentioned, on condition of his giving such information as may lead to the apprehension and conviction of one or more person or persons punishable under this Act. Such pardon may be tendered, as well in respect of the crime or offence for which the offender was detained, as of the offence of escaping from Jail.

X. Offences under this Act, other than those provided for by Section VIII of this Act, may be tried by a Sessions Judge, or by a Special Commissioner appointed under Act XIV of 1857 (to make further provision for the trial and punishment of certain offences relating to the Army and of offences against the State); and the sentence or judgment shall not be subject to appeal. Provided that nothing contained in this Section shall extend to the trial of a European British subject.

No. 37.

The 10th May 1860.

As the object which the Government has in view in calling in the Treasury Bills which are now in circulation appears to be greatly misunderstood, and as an apprehension appears to exist that it is intended as an indirect mode of creating new Loans, the Government deems it needful to issue the following explanation.

On the 20th of April 1859, under Notification, No. 24, a five-and-a-half per cent Loan was opened limited to five crores, upon certain conditions: And it was understood that the Government would open no new Loan before the first of May 1860, and which understanding has been strictly adhered to, that Loan was closed in the ordinary way on the 14th of February last. But there still remained upon the issue of Treasury Bills in the two forms under the Notification, No. 84, of the 30th of April 1859, of indefinite duration and amount; and which, as long as such an issue lasted, acted as a continual and unlimited means of borrowing on the part of the Government, and of absorbing money from the market. It was the desire of the Government, after the closing of the five-and-a-half per cent Loan, also to close all other means by which the Treasury could borrow money, and therefore by Notification, No. 25, dated the 27th ultimo, notice was given that money would cease to be received for the purchase of Treasury Bills, and that this means of creating debt would be closed.

But it became necessary to consider how to deal with the amount of Bills in circulation, which thus constituted a portion of the public debt, and it was decided that the amount being very small, only about 23 Lakhs in this Presidency, and 50 Lakhs for all other parts of India, including all the different classes of Treasury Bills; i. e., 3 pie Bills, and 2½ pie Bills Nos. 1 and 2; the owners should have the choice of converting them into a permanent Stock, or of receiving their money as the Bills fell due. An option is given to them to take four per cent, five per cent, or five-and-a-half per cent Stock, subject to the same terms as regards the time and conditions of repayment, as applied to those several Stocks, which have already been closed; but at such a price as the Government shall fix.

It must be plain that by this option given to the present holders of Treasury Bills, the Government does not add to its entire debt or abstract any money from the market: while, by the arrangement, the Government closes the Treasury against any further borrowing. All that is now done is to convert a debt, for payment of which the Government might be called upon at short and uncertain times, into one of a more fixed and permanent character, as certainty is essential to the economical management of the public finances; such conversion, however, to take place entirely at the option of the holders, and provided they are willing to give such terms as the Government think fair to the public: otherwise they will be paid off in cash.

So far therefore from this operation being intended as a new mode of indirectly raising Loans, it is adopted as a plan of effectually closing all the existing means open to the Treasury of borrowing money; which will be made more apparent when it is stated that the Government has no intention of coming upon the Indian Money Market for Loans of any kind whatever, whether in the shape of Treasury Bills, or in any other form, during the current financial year ending the 30th of April 1861.

Resolution.—With reference to the Financial Regulation of the 7th April, regarding the new system of Estimates, Budget, Accounts, and Audit, it is necessary to consider how the details of the several measures involved therein may be practically carried out, and how the principles governing the Budget may be adapted to the existing system of Accounts and Estimates.

will therefore be appointed, consisting of the following Gentlemen, to consider the above points generally, viz:—

Mr. C. H. Lushington.
Hon'ble E. Drummond.
Mr. R. Temple.

In considering the main points, the Committee will enter into such details as they may find necessary. Among the matters for consideration, will be the manner in which the specific sums sanctioned in the Budget should be placed at the credit of the various expending Departments, the mode in which such expenditure should be accounted for to the Local Accountants; the mode in which the Local Accountants should account to the Audit Department in Calcutta; the manner in which the Audit should be constituted, and the detailed Rules by which it should be guided in the execution of its functions.

The consideration of the Committee will be primarily directed to all Departments and in all Presidencies save those immediately pertaining to the Military Service. But the Committee will observe whatever resolution may be passed relative to the Military Finance Department, the Committee's attention will be specially given to all Civil Departments, to the Postal, Telegraphs and Marine Departments, &c. And as there will be but one Audit for each Department, namely, that conducted by the Audit Department in Calcutta, it will be necessary that the future duties and designation of the Officer now called Civil Auditor under each Local Government, be considered.

The Committee will proceed with their enquiries as soon as practicable, communicating their progress at short intervals to the Financial Branch of the Supreme Government, and will at the close submit a report on the detailed proposals they may make.

No. 9 of 1859.

FROM MAJOR GENERAL MICHEL,
Commanding Malwa Division of the Army,
TO THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE BENGAL ARMY.

Dated Chapeira, 3rd January 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to forward a Despatch from Lieutenant-Colonel Benson, detailing the pursuit and finally the defeat of the Rebel Forces under the Rao Sahib and Tantia Topce.

2. When the small number of Colonel Benson's Column was taken into account, that this Column without Tents, Camp Followers or Commissariat in five days performed the distance of 142 miles; and at its termination defeated a very superior Force, taking Elephants, Camels, &c., I trust His Lordship the Commander-in-Chief will consider that Colonel Benson, and the Troops under his Command, have well done their duty.

I have, &c.,

(Sd.) J. MICHEL, Major-General,
Commanding Malwa Division Army.

FROM LIEUTENANT COLONEL BENSON,
Commanding 2nd Cavalry Column,
TO THE ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL,
&c., &c., &c.,
Dated Gerapore, 29th December 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to inform you, for the information of the Major-General Commanding, that after a pursuit of 148 miles in one hundred and twenty hours, the Column under my Command, strength as per margin, came into action with the Rebel Force this morning at about three miles distance from Gerapore, their number apparently about 4,000 fighting men, under command of Tantia Topse and the Rao Sahib, and after an engagement of two hours put them to flight and pursued them for ten miles with heavy loss, capturing six (6) Elephants, and between thirty and forty (30 & 40) Camels, besides treasure and a prisoner, rank unknown, when, in consequence of the Rebels dispersing over a hilly and thick jungle country, and the Horses, especially the Draft Horses of the Artillery, beat, I did not deem it expedient to follow further, and abandoned the pursuit at about twelve miles distance from "Monohur Sharrah" at 3 P. M. Further detail I have the honor to state below.

1. On Friday, the 24th, at Ninose, having carefully ascertained that the passes leading out by "Reipore" had been blocked up by cutting down trees, &c., &c., which duty had been most successfully performed by Lieutenant Cogan, 4th Native Infantry, whom I had detached the day previous with 100 men for that purpose to Reipore, I struck my Camp and marched to "Nowgaum," and next day not being able to gain any intelligence of the movements of the Rebels I made a reconnaissance, taking with me a small body of Cavalry and Highlanders, and found that the Rebels after an attack on Pertabghur had marched the previous evening towards "Mundesoor."

2. I immediately returned to Camp and made a forced march to protect "Mundesoor," arrived there that evening and heard the Rebels were encamped four miles distant.

3. Next morning taking two days' supplies, and leaving the Artillery Waggon, Infantry, led Horses, Tents and Baggage of every description, also ghorahwallas and grass-cutters behind, under command of Captain Holmes, with orders to follow leisurely, according to the instructions I might send back. I started towards "Setur Mhow," but finding my information had been wrong, I changed my direction towards "Cainpore," at which place I came on the track of the Rebels and followed it, for as most of the villages had been plundered, it was often difficult to obtain guides, and halted that night on the left bank of the "Chumbel River."

4. Marched at day-break, for I could not follow the track by moonlight, crossed the Chumbel and came up with the Rebel Force encamped at "Dug" at 5-40 P. M., drove in their advanced posts and bivouacked for the night in sight of their fires.

5. Advanced at 4 o'clock A. M. so as to attack them at daybreak, and halted in the plains of "Dug" till light, when I found the main body had left the Camp the previous evening on their outposts being driven in, but had left strong mounted picquets which had remained till 3 A. M., and then followed the main body; pressed after them, and crossed the "Kolisind River."

6. Having started at 3 o'clock A. M. from the right bank of the "Kolisind," and marching eight miles, I came in sight of the fires of the Rebel Camp at "Gerapore." When I advanced over the ploughed land to deaden sound and waited for day-light, I then advanced and found that the main body had marched and were two miles ahead. I immediately trotted off after the main body and came up with them, and on emerging from a woody lane found them drawn up in line of battle on a rising ground, with a jungle and a ravine in their rear. I formed the Cavalry into columns of Division and advanced, when the Rebels commenced firing. I then moved my leading column to the right; uncovering my guns brought them rapidly to the front, when they opened fire at about 400 yards, grape and shell. The Rebels after a great deal of shouting retired, and I ordered out two divisions of Cavalry to attack on their (the enemy's) right, which they did, driving them into the jungle. I then re-formed and advanced in two columns well together through the jungle and across the ravine, Rebels retiring before me. On coming out on the other side of the jungle which was a thin strip, I found that the Rebels had changed their position, left back, and were re-formed on a rising ground on my left. I advanced my two columns, bringing forward my right and formed line to the front, guns in the centre, and advanced to within 400 yards from their line and opened fire, pouring in grape and shell, apparently with great effect. The Rebels then made an attempt at an advance in line, and failing that tried to turn my left flank, but I directed Sir George Leith, who commanded the left squadron, to half wheel to his left and move up, which he did quickly, and they retired. I then ordered Sir William Gordon, who commanded the right squadron, to advance, bringing up his right shoulders, which he did, and advanced, destroying and cutting up numbers, the Rebels flying through the jungle and across the ravine, but he gallantly followed them and cut off a number of Camels, &c. I then advanced with the Artillery and other Squadron, cutting up a few Rebels, and re-formed the Force, and followed through the jungle across the ravine, but owing to the difficulty of having to make a road for the Guns, I was delayed for a few minutes, and dismounted the Cavalry to rest; the moment the Guns were across, I took up the pursuit over an open, but stony and hilly country, where I again found the Rebels drawn up on a hill, but on bringing the Guns to the front they quickly retreated, and I then pursued them in line, Guns leading down the road, and a squadron of Lancers on each flank, for about five (5) miles, towards "Monohur Sharrah," which, in consequence of their dispersing and the Horses being beat, I abandoned the pursuit, but seeing four Elephants in their front, I sent a Troop, under Captain Love, supported by other under Sir George Leith, to dash forward and take them in, which duty Captain Lowe performed in a very satisfactory manner. I then returned to "Gerepere" and bivouacked for the night.

7. I think it my duty to bring to the notice of the Major-General Commanding, the gallant and able manner in which Major Learmouth commanded and led the 17th Lancers.

8. Also to mention with the highest praise Serjeant Major Butler, Royal Horse Artillery, who was in command of the Guns, for the celerity and precision with which he brought them into action over a most difficult country.

9. I also beg to state that I received every assistance from my Acting Staff Officer, Lieutenant Gonne, 17th Lancers, from my Interpreter Mr. Reeves, 6th Native Infantry, and my Acting Aide-de-Camp, Lieutenant Nolan, 17th Lancers, all of whom were most active and intelligent in conveying orders, &c.

10. From the untiring zeal and energy of Captain Hutchinson, the Political Agent, who accompanied me during these operations, both in obtaining accurate information, procuring supplies, and rendering me every assistance in his power, I attribute in a very great measure the success which has attended them.

11. I cannot too highly praise the conduct of Notification.

THE following Memorandum regarding the distribution of the various Districts in India into Circles for purposes of the new Paper Currency, which has been prepared by the Commissioner for the introduction of this Currency, under the direction of the Supreme Government, is published for general information. It is to be understood, however, that this distribution is not yet finally settled. The ultimate decision of Government on this matter is reserved, pending the consideration of such information and suggestions as may be received.

R. TEMPLE,
Commissioner.

MEMORANDUM on the proposed formation of Circles for Paper Currency in India.

WITH the view of giving effect to the system of a Paper Currency for India, it is necessary to consider the Currency Circles into which the various Presidencies and Provinces should be divided, and the places which should be the Head-Quarters of the several Circles respectively.

2. Circles of Districts will be formed for the purposes of the Paper Currency. For each Circle a separate series of Notes will be issued; the denomination of these Notes will be expressed in English, and in at least two of the written languages in use within the Circle.

3. Within the Circle the Notes will be absolutely legal tender. Every one who makes payments on them; none can refuse to receive them, and no discount can be charged on them. The Government will receive its own revenues, and make its payments in them. But beyond the limits of the Circle, they will not pass in transactions between man and man in the same manner as Notes and Coins not belonging to the Districts. Again the Notes are immediately convertible into Silver at the Head-Quarters of the Circle, where there will be located an Officer to be called a Deputy Commissioner of Issue. He will have an Office to be called the Office of Issue of the Circle, and a Treasury containing the reserves of Silver and the Government Securities, which are to ensure the instant convertibility of the Notes. Any holder of a Note may get it cashed at the Office of Issue in the Circle to which the Note belongs, and also at the Office of Issue at the Presidency to which the Circle belongs, but at no other Office of Issue.

4. If any Circle should be more than ordinarily extensive, then at some convenient place within it, an Office of Sub-Issue might be established in addition to the regular Office of Issue. The Office of Sub-Issue would answer all the purposes of an Office of Issue. But the Notes would all belong to the series of the Circle. By these means, while the public convenience would be consulted, the multiplication of series of Notes would be avoided.

5. In each Circle the Notes of all the other Circles which adjoin or abut thereon, will be received in payment of revenue. Such Notes, however, will not be re-issued from the Treasuries of such Circle, but will be exchanged for the proper Notes of the Circle at the Offices of Issue as often as suits the convenience of such Treasuries, and a periodical exchange of Notes and adjustment of accounts will take place between the Issue Departments of all such Circles.

6. Now for the carrying out of the above objects, the Districts comprising a Circle should be enclosed by one ring-fence, as it were, and situated in a compact geographical position, so that parties requiring Cash instead of Notes may not have to go too far for it. They should form a tract in which the same language is used, so that there may be no doubt regarding the denomination of the Notes. They should be united together by associations of trade, so that the transaction of ordinary current business may be facilitated by circulation of Notes.

7. The Head-Quarter of a Currency Circle should be at a place where there is a Civil Establishment, where Civil Officers of rank are stationed, and where an European Force is cantoned. Also it should be at a place where a large mart exists, where the produce of surrounding Districts is collected, and where the chief commercial affairs of the Districts in the Circle are more or less centered, so that the convenience of the public may be consulted, and the safety of the Currency Reserves may be ensured as much as possible.

8. The above conditions then should be observed as much as possible in the defining of the Circles, and in the selecting the Head-Quarters of each Circle. On the one hand it is desirable to have as many Circles as may be needed for the public convenience. If the Circles were too few, then their great size might lead to inconvenience. On the other hand the Circles should be as few as may consist with the above object. If there were too many, then although their compact size might be convenient in some respects, still another kind of inconvenience would be produced, inasmuch as the Circles being numerous, there would be too many different kinds of Notes.

9. In the Bengal Presidency, the Department of the Chief Commissioner of Paper Currency at Calcutta would manufacture the Notes, and transmit them in sufficient quantities, to the Department of Issue in each Circle. He would take care that the Deputy Commissioner of Issue in each Circle was supplied with the requisite quantity of Silver and of Government Securities to ensure the convertibility of the Notes. For the Madras and Bombay Presidencies, the Chief Commissioner at Calcutta would also have the Notes made, and would transmit them to the Commissioners for Madras and Bombay respectively, who would again cause each Deputy Commissioner of Issue in their respective Circles to be supplied with the proper number of Notes. The Chief Commissioner at Calcutta and the Commissioners at Madras and Bombay would see that each Deputy Commissioner of Issue in the Circles of those Presidencies was duly furnished with reserves of Silver and Government Securities.

10. In the Bengal Presidency there are three Lieutenant-Governorships, viz., Bengal, North-Western Provinces, and the Punjab; also the Provinces of Oude, Nagpore, and Pegu, immediately under the Government of India. It will be desirable to consider the Circles in each part of the Presidency separately, although it does not follow necessarily that the limits of the Circles should exactly coincide with those of the several Lieutenant-Governorships.

11. For the Lieutenant-Governorship of Bengal there will be an Issue Department, and a Deputy Commissioner of Currency at Calcutta. In the Calcutta Circle there must be included the Districts of Central and Lower Bengal as follows :

24 Pargunnahs.	Moorshedabad.
Howrah.	Bancoora.
Honghly.	Pacheta.
Midnapore.	Pubna.
Sunderbunds.	Bogra.
Jessore.	Rungpore.
Baraset.	Dinagapore.
Nudda.	Malda.
Burdwan.	Rajshahye.
Beerbhoom.	Purneah.

In all these Districts the Bengalee language is used, and but a few of the Districts are at any great distance from Calcutta. The Oorloo and Bengalee characters will appear on the Notes.

12. In Bengal then there would remain the Districts of Eastern Bengal and Assam; and the Eastern Coast of the Bay of Bengal, namely :

Furzedpore.	Mymensing.
Dacca.	Sylhet.
Backergunge.	North Cachar.
Tippora.	South Cachar.
Chittagong.	Jynteah.
Noacolly.

These might either be formed into a separate Circle of which Dacca would form its commercial situation form the appropriate Head-Quarters; or else they might be included in the Calcutta Circle with an Office of Sub-Issue at Dacca. But owing to the distance of some of these Districts from Calcutta, and the vicinity of important centres of river traffic, such as Serajgunge and Narain-gunge on the Berhampooter and its feeders, an Office of Sub-Issue will at least be necessary. In all these Districts the Bengalee language is spoken. It will be seen presently that three more Circles will be required for Bengal. And if on this account it be thought desirable to diminish the number of Circles, then one Circle might be saved by having a Sub-Issue only at Dacca, and retaining only one large Circle for all the rich, populous, and fertile Districts in which the Bengalee language is spoken.

13. To the North-East is the somewhat wild, though rising Province of A-sam, containing the following Districts, namely :

Gowalpara.	Luckimpore.
Gowhatty.	Sulva.
Nowgong.	Darrung.
Sebsaugor.

In these Districts the Assamese language with a written character is used, and Bengalee is not understood or very little understood. In this point of view there ought perhaps to be a separate Assam Circle with Head Quarters at Gowhatty. But although these Districts have a growing trade owing to the water traffic of the Borhampootee, still their population and revenue are small as compared with more civilized divisions. Commercially there would be no difficulty in their being included in the same Circle as Dacca. Their trade passes down the river to the Emporium there. If they be not erected into a separate Circle, they should belong to the same Circle as Dacca.

14. South of Bengal is the Province of Orissa, comprising the Districts of Cuttack.	Balasora.

Pooree.

In these the Oorya written language is used, and the Bengalee is not understood. In this point of view then, there should be a separate Circle for Orissa, with Head-Quarters at Cuttack. But here again the population and revenue is small as compared with other Circles. On the other hand it has not much trade with Calcutta, except in Salt. If it be not made into a Circle of itself it will be included in the Calcutta Circle. In that case however an Office of Sub-Issue might be required.

15. In the Bengal Lieutenant-Governorship there remain the Provinces of Behar and Chota Nagpore or South-West Frontier. In these are included the Districts of

Bhaugulpore,	Behar,
Monghyr,	Palamow,
Tinhoot,	Chota Nagpore,
Patna,	Ramguth,
Sarun,	Sambulpore,
Shahabad,

some of which are among the most populous and fertile in the Presidency. In these Districts the Oordoo, Hindi and Bengalee languages are understood. The trade centres in the rich marts of Behar on the banks of the Ganges. And the Head-Quarters of the Circle might be at Patna, where there is a large Military Station.

16. In the North-West Provinces, Allahabad, being now the seat of Government, and being very centrally situated, suggests itself as a proper place for the Head-Quarters of a Circle. Though not itself a place of great trade, it stands on one of the most important points on the whole line of the Grand Trunk Road, and is close to several great marts, such as Mirzapore and Benares. Again it is contiguous to the Central and Southern part of the Province of Oude and to the Bundelkund District. In the Allahabad Circle might be included the following Districts :

N. W. Provinces...	{	Allahabad.
	{	Benares.
	{	Mirzapore.
	{	Ghazepore.
	{	Azingurh.
	{	Goruckpore.
	{	Jounpore.
Oude	{	Cawnpore.
	{	Futtehpore.
	{	Sultanpore.
	{	Faizabad.
	{	Salone.
	{	Lucknow.
	{	Durabad.
Bundelkund	{	Oonao.
	{	Baraich.
	{	Mullapore.
	{	Gonda.
	{	Banda.
	{	Ilumerpore.

The Circle thus formed would be a very large and important one, but the Districts are compactly situated. If needed a Sub-Issue Office might be established at Lucknow ; but probably this would not be found to be essential. In all these Districts the Oordoo and Hindi languages are used.

17. Proceeding in the North-West direction, Furruckabad appears to have a very central situation, and is an important centre of trade. It is also a Military Station with an European Force. In this Circle might be included the central part of the Doab between the Ganges and Jumna, the Provinces of Rohilcund and Kumaon, and the Western Districts of Oude. The Districts of this Circle then would stand thus—

Doab	{	Furruckabad.
	{	Mynpoorie.
	{	Etawah.
	{	Agra.
	{	Muttra.
	{	Allygurh.
	{	Budaon.
Rohilcund	{	Barcilly.
	{	Shajehanpore.
	{	Bijnora.
	{	Mooradabad.
	{	Mullaon.
	{	Muhumda.
	{	Sectapore.
Oude	{	Gurhwal.
Kumaon	{

In these Districts also the Oordoo and Hindi languages are used.

18. Turning towards the Districts bordering on the Jumna, and those lying between the Jumna and the Sutlej, the Station of Delhi offers itself as the most suitable place for the centre of a Circle. Its situation is unrivalled in Northern India, politically, topographically, and commercially, and it is held by European Troops.

In the Delhi Circle then the following Districts might be included :

N. W. Provinces...	{	Meerut.
	{	Boolundshuhar.
	{	Mozuffernaggar.
	{	Seharanpore.
	{	Dehra Dhaca.
Delhi Territory	{	Delhi.
	{	Panaseput.
	{	Goorgaon.
	{	Rohatuk.

Hurrianah	...	Sirsa.
		Hissar.
		Jhajjur.
		Umballa.
Cis-Sutlej States...		Thanesur.
		Loodianah.
		Simla.

In all these Districts the Oordoo and Hindi languages are used : although Punjabee is spoken in the Cis-Sutlej States. But as Umballa is a large Station situated at some distance from Delhi, an Office of Sub-Issue might be established there.

19. In the Punjab, Lahore, as being the Capital, as being very close to the great mart Umritsur, and as being a remarkably central situation, is obviously fitted for the Head-Quarters of a Circle. In this Circle it will be desirable to include all the Districts up to the North-Western Frontier at Peshawur. The traffic of Peshawur is great and increasing, but an Office of Sub-Issue should suffice. In the Lahore Circle then the following Districts would be included :

Lahore.	Kangra.
Umritsur.	Goojerat.
Goojranwalla	Shahpore.
Sialkote.	Jhelum.
Goordaspore.	Rawul Pindies.
Ferozepore.	Huzara.
Jullunder.	Peshawur.
Hoshiarpore.	Kohat.

In these Districts the Hindoostanee or Oordoo language is now understood : the addition of Hindi would not be of much use. The Goormookhee character in which the Punjabee language is written might be added. The Oordoo and Goormookhee characters then might be used in the Notes.

20. In the Southern Punjab, Mooltan is commercially and politically the central place. Its situation both for Steamers and Railways is wonderfully good, and its commerce is rising fast. It is held by an European Force. It might be the Head-Quarters of a Circle.

In the Mooltan Circle the following Districts might be included :

Mooltan.	Dera Ghazee Khan.
Gogaira.	Leia.
Jhung.	Mozafferghurh.
Dera Ismail Khan.

In these Districts the Oordoo language is understood, and the Goormookhee might be added. The Oordoo and Goormookhee characters might be used on the Notes.

21. In Central India there are the Saugor and Nerbudda Territories and Ajmere. These might be made into a Circle with its Head-Quarters at Saugor, where there is an European Force and a Civil Station, and a considerable trade. In this Circle would be the following Districts :

Saugor.	Jaloun.
Dumoh.	Jhanai.
Jubbulpore.	Chundeyree.
Seonee.	Jnood Neemuch.
Mundla.	Nimar.
Hoshangabad.	Ajmere.
Baitool.	Nagode.
Nursingpore.

In these Districts the Oordoo and Hindi languages are understood, and the characters of both might be used on the Notes.

22. To the Circles of the Bengal Presidency there may be added one for Burmah with Head-Quarters at Pegu. The Circle would include all the Districts of British Burmah, and perhaps also those of the Tenasserim Province, with an Office of Sub-Issue at Moulmein. It does not seem necessary to make a separate Circle for Tenasserim. The Notes will bear the Burmese character, as that language is used in all the Districts.

23. The proposed Circles of the Bengal Presidency are now complete. To these several Circles the Notes would be supplied from Calcutta, and they would be payable either at the Head-Quarters of their proper Circle, or at Calcutta.

24. In the Madras Presidency the first Circle will be that of Madras itself. In and about Madras the Tamil and Telooogo languages are used. The Telooogo language prevails in the Districts along the East Coast, known as the Northern Circars—also in most of the Districts formerly ceded from the Nizam's Territory. The trade of these Districts, and especially that of the Coast Districts for the most part finds its way to Madras. The Districts of the Northern Circars near the mouth of the Godavery are rapidly advancing in prosperity. In the Madras Circle then the following Districts might be included :—

Madras, Chingleput.
North Arcot.
Nellore.

Ceded Districts ...	{ Cuddapah.
	{ Kurnool.
	{ Guntoor.
Northern Circars...	{ Masulipatam.
	{ Rajahmundry.
	{ Vizagapatam.
	{ Ganjam.

In the Notes the Tamil and Telooogo character might be used. In consideration of the distance of the Northern Circar Districts from Madras a Sub-Issue Office at Vizagapatam might be allowed.

25. A Circle will then be needed in the Southern tongue of the Peninsula. The Tamil language is used in the Districts on the Coromandel side. But the Districts on the Malabar side, such as Travancore, Cochin and Malabar, use the Malayalim language, and understand no other. For this provision must be made. As the Head-Quarters of this Circle Trichinopoly naturally suggests itself as being a Civil Station with an European Force centrally situated, and near to the rich District of Tanjore, called the garden of South India.

In the Trichinopoly Circle then the following Districts might be included :

Trichinopoly.	Salem.
Tanjore.	Travancore.
Madura.	Cochin.
Tinnevely.	Malabar.
South Arcot.	Coimbatore.

The Notes might bear the Tamil and Malayalim characters.

26. The East and South portions of the Presidency having thus been arranged for, there remain the West and North portions. Along the West Coast (Canara), and on the Table Lands of Mysore and Hyderabad Territory, and in the Southern extremity of the Bombay Presidency, above the Ghaut Mountains, the Canarese language prevails. In Lower Canara also the Malayalim language prevails.

The following Districts might be included in the Circle :

Coorg.	North Canara.
Mysore.	South Canara.
Bellary.	Dharwar, } within Bombay Belgaum, } Presidency,

and the Raichore Doab, one of the recently Assigned Hyderabad Districts. The only difficulty in this Circle is the selection of a place for Head-Quarters. There are in this part of the country three Stations of European Troops, namely, Bellary, Bangalore, and Belgaum. Bangalore is divided by mountains from the Coast where the trade exists, and has no considerable trade of its own. Belgaum (within limits of Bombay Presidency), again is just on the Northern extremity of the Circle, and its situation is the reverse of central to the Circle. It has however a trade and lies on the high road from the Coast to the Deccan.

The third place is Bellary, this is more central than Belgaum, and has a trade with the Coast with which indeed its communication is likely to improve. On the whole it appears the fittest place for the Head-Quarters of this Circle.

In the Notes of this Circle the Canarese and Malayalam languages would be used.

27. Such are the proposed Circles for the Madras Presidency. The Notes would be convertible either at the Head-Quarters of their proper Circle: or at Madras.

28. In the Bombay Presidency the first Circle will be that of Bombay itself. Within that Circle would come the Districts of South Concan.	Sholapore.

Sattara.	Daraseo (Hydrabad Assigned Districts).
Ahmed Nuggur.	Joneer.
Poona.	Tanna.
Candeish.

The trade of these Districts of course is centred at the Capital of the Presidency. The language used is chiefly Mahratta. The Notes would bear that character and also the Hindoostanee character.

29. To the North of Bombay there are the rich Cotton growing Districts where the Goozeratte language is spoken: and the trade of which converges to Surat. It will be necessary to have a Circle here, and consisting of the following Districts, viz. :—

Surat.	Ahmedabad.
Broach.	Khaira.

The Notes would bear the Goozeratte and also the Hindoostanee characters. The Head-Quarters would be at Ahmedabad, where there is an European Force and a considerable trade, especially in Opium.

30. There remains the Province of Sindh, of which the growing trade will soon give a large employment for the Note Currency. The Head-Quarters would be at Hyderabad, the old Capital, where there is an European Force, and the Circle would comprise the following Districts:

Hyderabad.	Shikarpore.
Kurrachee.	Sindh Frontier Division.

The Notes would bear the Sindhie and Hindoostanee characters.

31. It is proposed to include the Nagpore Provinces in the Circles pertaining to the Bombay Presidency. This Province is peculiarly situated in the very heart of India. It is a great producing country, and sends its produce to distant marts, to Mirzapore in the North, to Coringa near the mouth of Godavery on the East, to Bombay on the West. It has indeed three distant outlets for its traffic. Now it would be very difficult to combine Nagpore with the Northern Circles of Madras, or with the North-West Provinces of Bengal. If combined with the Sanger and Nerbuddah Territories, which would be geographically possible, then it would fall within the North-West Provinces. On the whole it seems best to make Nagpore a separate Circle, and place it together with the Bombay Circles: so that a Nagpore Note may be convertible either at Nagpore or at Bombay, with which latter Capital Nagpore has more connexion than any other. The Nagpore Notes might bear the Mahratta and Hindoostanee characters.

32. Such are the proposed Circles for the Bombay Presidency. The Notes would be convertible either at the Head-Quarters of their proper Circles or at Bombay.

33. The several Districts throughout India have now been briefly considered. According to this scheme there will be seventeen Circles in all; distributed as follows among the three Presidencies—

Bengal	...	10
Madras	...	3
Bombay	...	4
Total	...	17

The number will probably not appear excessive when the vast extent of Territory, the numerous Districts consisting of no less than 180 or thereabouts—the variety of languages and characters, of which no less than 15 will appear on the Notes—are all considered. Every care has been taken to reduce the Circles as much as possible consistently with the important objects in view.

tive Officers named, in the presence of the Accountant General of the Presidency to which the Bills may appertain, and of one of the Directors of the Bank of Bengal, or of Madras or Bombay (as the case may be), at 10 o'clock A. It is hereby further intimated that the Treasury Bills issued under Notification No. 6, dated 26th January 1859, and bearing interest at the rate of 3 pias per day for each 100 Rupees, and which may not be converted into Stock under this Notification, will be paid off at the General Treasuries of the Presidencies from which they have been issued, under the terms of the said Notification of the 26th January 1859, three months from the date hereof, that is to say, on the 9th day of August 1860, from which date interest on the said Bills will cease to accrue.

No. 37.

The 10th May 1860.

As the object which the Government has in view in calling in the Treasury Bills which are now in circulation appears to be greatly misunderstood, and as an apprehension appears to exist that it is intended as an indirect mode of creating new loans, the Government deems it needful to issue the following explanation.

On the 20th of April 1859, under Notification, No. 28, a five-and-a-half per cent Loan was opened limited to five crores, upon certain conditions: And it was understood that the Government would open no new Loan before the first of May 1860, and which understanding has been strictly adhered to, that Loan was closed in the ordinary way on the 14th of February last. But there still remained open the issue of Treasury Bills in the two forms under the Notification, No. 34, of the 30th of April 1859, of indefinite duration and amount; and which, as long as such an issue lasted, acted as a continual and unlimited means of borrowing on the part of the Government, and of absorbing money from the market. It was the desire of the Government, after the closing of the five-and-a-half per cent Loan, also to close all other means by which the Treasury could borrow money, and therefore by Notification, No. 33, dated the 27th ultimo, notice was given that money would cease to be received for the purchase of Treasury Bills, and that this means of creating debt would be closed.

But it became necessary to consider how to deal with the amount of Bills in circulation, which thus constituted a portion of the public debt, and it was decided that the amount being very small, only about 23 Lakhs in this Presidency, and 59 Lakhs for all other parts of India, including all the different classes, of Treasury Bills; i. e., 3 pie Bills, and 2½ pie Bills Nos. 1 and 2;

the owners should have the choice of converting them into a permanent Stock, or of receiving their money as the Bills fell due. An option is given to them to take four per cent, five per cent, or five-and-a-half per cent Stock, subject to the same terms as regards the time and conditions of repayment, as applied to those several Stocks, which have already been closed; but at such a price as the Government shall fix.

It must be plain that by this option given to the present holders of Treasury Bills, the Government does not add to its entire debt or abstract any money from the market: while, by the arrangement, the Government closes the Treasury against any further borrowing. All that is now done is to convert a debt, for payment of which the Government might be called upon at short and uncertain times, into one of a more fixed and permanent character, as certainty is essential to the economical management of the public finances; such conversion, however, to take place entirely at the option of the holders, and provided they are willing to give such terms as the Government think fair to the public: otherwise they will be paid off in cash.

So far therefore from this operation being intended as a new mode of indirectly raising Loans, it is adopted as a plan of effectually closing all the existing means open to the Treasury of borrowing money; which will be made more apparent when it is stated that the Government has no intention of coming upon the Indian Money Market for Loans of any kind whatever, whether in the shape of Treasury Bills, or in any other form, during the current financial year ending the 30th of April 1861.

No. 37.

Fort William, the 10th May 1860.

Notification.—As the object which the Government has in view in calling in the Treasury Bills which are now in circulation appears to be greatly misunderstood, and as an apprehension appears to exist that it is intended as an indirect mode of creating new Loans, the Government deems it needful to issue the following explanation.

On the 20th of April 1859, under Notification, No. 28, a five-and-a-half per cent Loan was opened limited to five crores, upon certain conditions: And it was understood that the Government would open no new Loan before the first of May 1860, and which understanding has been strictly adhered to, that Loan was closed in the ordinary way on the 14th of February last. But there still remained open the issue of Treasury Bills in the two forms under the Notification, No. 34, of the 30th of April 1859, of indefinite duration and amount; and which, as long as such an issue lasted, acted as a continual and unlimited means of borrowing on the part of the Government, and of absorbing money from the market. It was the desire of the Government, after the closing of the five-and-a-half per cent Loan, also to close all other means by which the Treasury could borrow money, and therefore by Notification, No. 33, dated the 27th ultimo, notice was given that money would cease to be received for the purchase of Treasury Bills, and that this means of creating debt would be closed.

But it became necessary to consider how to deal with the amount of Bills in circulation, which thus constituted a portion of the public debt, and it was decided that the amount being very small, only about 28 Lakhs in this Presidency, and 59 Lakhs for all other parts of India, including all the different classes of Treasury Bills; i. e., 8 pie Bills, and 2½ pie Bills Nos. 1 and 2; the owners should have the choice of converting them into a permanent Stock, or of receiving their money as the Bills fell due. An option is given to them to take four per cent, five per cent, or five-and-a-half per cent Stock, subject to the same terms as regards the time and conditions of repayment, as applied to those several Stocks, which have already been closed; but at such a price as the Government shall fix.

It must be plain that by this option given to the present holders of Treasury Bills, the Government does not add to its entire debt or abstract any money from the market: while, by the arrangement, the Government closes the Treasury against any further borrowing. All that is now done is to convert a debt, for payment of which the Government might be called upon at short and uncertain times, into one of a more fixed and permanent character, as certainty is essential to the economical management of the public finances; such conversion, however, to take place entirely at the option of the holders, and provided they are willing to give such terms as the Government think fit to the public: otherwise they will be paid off in cash.

So far therefore from this operation being intended as a new mode of indirectly raising Loans, it is adopted as a plan of effectually closing all the existing means open to the Treasury of borrowing money; which will be made more apparent when it is stated that the Government has no intention of coming upon the Indian Money Market for Loans of any kind whatever, whether in the shape of Treasury Bills, or in any other form, during the current financial year ending the 30th of April 1861.

Notice.

In a Notification by the Punjab Government, dated the 28th December 1859, it was intimated that of the extensive waste lands existing in the Kangra District, a considerable portion was well adapted for Tea Cultivation. Parties desirous of securing possession of waste land were invited to negotiate with Village Communities, and were promised the aid of an Officer, who would be deputed by Government to facilitate the transfer. Subsequently, in order to obviate the difficulties it was anticipated that Settlers might experience in purchasing lands direct from the Zemindars, the Local Authorities were authorized to purchase waste land for Government, in view to its re-sale to Settlers. It is hereby notified that about 10,000 acres of land in the Kangra and Pabun Valleys are now in the hands of Government. Of this quantity about 6,000 acres will be sold at Kangra on the 1st July next, by Public Auction, in Lots not exceeding 200 acres each, at certain upset prices, which, together with a detail of the Lots, will be advertized on or about the 1st June next.
